

January 27, 2012

Dear Parents,

Don't forget to review the schedule of upcoming events planned for next week's Catholic Schools' Week. A complete listing of activities may be found in my letter of last week but I know that the students probably enjoy their lunch with you the most.

Again, it is highly recommended that if you will be arriving at a different time than scheduled make sure your child/ren know when you will be here.

An added attraction for the Parent-Student luncheon is the winter showing of our lost and found collection. This will provide a great opportunity to locate that missing shoe, jacket, hat, glove, etc. that may have caused you to wonder if there are strangers in your home stealing your children's clothing one item at a time.

Any items not claimed will be donated to charity.

This Sunday all three campuses of Holy Cross Academy will be open for tours from 12:30 until 3:30. I would like to thank the Marketing Committee of the Academy for all of their hard work in preparation for this day. They've done a wonderful job in coordinating the talent that is present in all three parishes. If you son or daughter's team is scheduled to play a game here on Sunday you will be asked to park in the lot behind school and enter the gym through the courtyard. This is necessary to free up parking in the front lot for those touring the school building.

This year's Archdiocesan Students' Art Exhibit is scheduled for West County Mall. From January 29 until February 4 the following Annunciation students will have their work displayed.

Luca Z., Tyler B., Josie W., Grace H., Emily H., Patrick B., Leo H., and Kerry A.

Finally, on Wednesday, February 8, at 7:00 p.m. at John F. Kennedy Catholic High School, Dr. Tim Jordan will be speaking on positive self-esteem. Dr. Jordan is a behavioral pediatrician, founder of Camp Weloki, and a well-known author and international speaker.

Dr. Jordan's presentation is sponsored by the Parent Network of Catholic High Schools.

Sincerely,
Michael Biggs, Principal